IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Sacramento Technology Group Partners With Dito To Deliver Google Apps Training.

Folsom, California, February 16, 2011 – Sacramento Technology Group, a cloud-computing focused consulting company based in the heart of California's Sacramento Valley, will partner with Dito, a Google-referred Training Partner, to deliver Google Apps training to business in Sacramento, Northern California, and Northern Nevada.

The new partnership will allow Sacramento Technology Group to offer Google Referred customized training for all of the Google Apps solutions to include Google Apps, Google Message Discovery (Spam Filtering), and all of the additional tools and features offered by under the Google Apps umbrella.

"Moving certain aspects of enterprise technology to Google Apps can save enterprises millions of dollars in licensing, hardware, and data center costs annually," says George Usi, President of Sacramento Technology Group LLC. "Since Google Apps is a unique and new application, training will be an integral part of insuring successful deployment, communication, and support plans for users who are new to the Google Apps tool set. With proper training, Google Apps can provide the much needed formula for savings in these difficult economic times while reducing the workload of Information Technology workers responsible for running and securing the computer systems that drive critical systems," Usi continues, "Delivering Google Apps also requires an extensive background in service, script development, consulting, project management, information security, and a keen sense of government technology and procurement logistics for public sector transactions around Google." says Usi. "We have all of the key ingredients Google Apps needs to be successful in both private enterprise and government procurement with a proven record delivering Google's Postini solutions to these markets for a number of years."

"We are very excited to announce our partnership with Sacramento Technology Group. By partnering with Sacramento Technology Group, we are able to focus on delivering world-class Google Apps training to the end-users while [George] Usi's team focuses on the project management, information security, etc - it's a winning combination for all parties involved," says Dan McNeils, Principal at Dito. "Our experience in all facets of small-, medium-, and large-scale deployments helps inform the plan and ensures a successful transition to Google Apps."

Sacramento Technology Group began offering Postini Email Protection Services in 2004. John Riley, Sacramento Technology Group's operations manager mentions, "All businesses require an efficient and effective training solution. Google Apps, although very intuitive, still requires formal training to help users converting from traditional client-based email solutions into a cloud computing model. Our partnership with Dito will allow us to deliver a Google endorsed training program when customers seek it." Riley continues, "Our extensive experience deploying and supporting Google Message Discovery coupled with Dito's extensive Google Apps background will help us insure successful deployment for all of our Google Apps and Google Message Discovery customers."
